2 Introduction

- 3 This is our third and final day of our You Are Unique
- 4 presentation. But before we dive into today's discussion, let's
- 5 do a quick recap of things we've talked about so far.
- 6 Can someone raise their hand and tell me one thing we talked
- 7 about on Day 1? Call on 1-2 students. (uniqueness, decision-
- 8 making, definition of sex, love and lust)
- 9 Who can tell me the three forms of sexual contact? (hand to
- 10 genital, mouth to genital, genital to genital)
- 11 Why are these three forms considered sexual contact? (they
- 12 expose you to STDs)
- 13 What are some things we talked about on Day 2? (triggers and
- 14 responses, STDs, contraceptives, sexual abuse and consent)
- 15 Yesterday we covered physical consequences of sex. Today we're
- 16 going to talk about the emotional consequences.

Emotional Consequences of Sex

18 ➤ Tape Illustration

19 (Hold up a fresh piece of tape).

- 20 Take this piece of tape for example. What do we know about tape?
- 21 What is it meant to do? (Allow student response).
- 22 So tape is meant to bond something else or bond two things
- 23 together. So, let's pretend our tape represents a person. (Grab
- 24 the unused strip of tape and hold it up near your fingertips, it
- 25 will attempt to move towards your fingers).
- 26 See how the tape wants to bond with something. People are
- 27 created to make bonds as well. That's why we have emotions.
- 28 Emotions allow us to bond with others. So how do our emotions
- 29 play a part in sex.
- 30 Let's look at this piece of tape. It's fresh, clean and ready to
- 31 use. This is like a person that has no relationship baggage. But
- 32 let's say I meet someone I think is kind of cute and I want to
- 33 have a relationship with them and then decide to have sex with
- 34 them. (Stick tape to arm.)
- 35 Would you say this is a strong bond or weak? (Reference tape on
- 36 your arm, pretty strong) What makes it a strong bond? (Wait for
- 37 response) That's right, it's strong because it was a fresh piece
- 38 of tape.
- 39 So, you've got this really strong bond in your relationship the
- 40 first time you have sex, but tell me, what is true about most
- 41 high school dating relationships? They break up! Especially when

- 42 things are weird and communication is complicated. (Rip tape
- 43 off your arm).
- 44 So now that you've broken up, what does this tape look like?
- 45 Well, it's not fresh or clear anymore, it's pretty gummed up,
- 46 isn't it? That's kind of like our emotions when we have sex in
- 47 our relationships.
- 48 Here's the scary part, statistics tell us that if someone your
- 49 age has sex once, then they are likely to have at least 8 total
- 50 sexual partners before marriage. So this tape will go through
- 51 this bonding and ripping process 7 more times. (Stick it to your
- 52 arm seven more times and rip it off each time.)
- 53 As this tape bonds and is ripped off over and over again, what
- 54 is happening to it?" (Allow student responses. They should pick
- 55 up on the fact that it will begin to lose its adhesiveness.)
- 56 This tape is losing its ability to bond. And guess what, people
- 57 are the same way. The more we are in and out of relationships,
- 58 the more we give ourselves away sexually, the harder it becomes
- 59 to build a lasting bond between yourself and another person.
- 60 So let's say you continue these habits until one day you meet
- 61 the man or woman of your dreams and decide to get married. They
- 62 too have had multiple sexual partners. How strong do you think
- 63 the bond will be? (As you say this fold the used tape in half
- 64 upon itself and try to stick them together. Show the ease of the
- 65 used tape separating from itself as you pull it back apart)

- 66 At the first sign of trouble, it's going to be a lot easier to
- 67 split.
- 68 Now, let's take a fresh piece of tape. (Hold up a clean piece of
- 69 tape.) Remember, our tape wants to bond with something, just
- 70 like humans too. But let's say we decide not to bring sex into
- 71 the mix until we meet the man or woman of our dreams. And what
- 72 if they have done the same. (Fold the clean piece in half upon
- 73 itself).
- 74 Now, what type of bond do you think they are creating? How easy
- 75 would it be to separate this bond?
- 76 So if humans all have the tendency to want to bond, let's look
- 77 at some core emotional needs that most people have.

78 Core Emotional Needs

- 79 Status
- 80 Status is basically our need to feel important. We all want to
- 81 feel like we matter. We all want to be treated with respect. And
- 82 we all want to feel like we're good at something. For example,
- 83 you may want to be the star athlete, make good grades, be the
- 84 most popular. These are examples of our need to fulfill our
- 85 status.

Connection

- 87 Who doesn't like having quality relationships? We get to share
- 88 our values, feel appreciated, share common experiences, and

- 89 build closeness. The best connections with others center around
- 90 good communication. Most if this at your stage in life is all
- 91 about that cell phone. You spend a lot of time communicating
- 92 with friends.

93 Safety

- 94 When we trust someone enough to be our goofy selves, we feel
- 95 safe. Security is necessary for strong bonds. If someone hurts
- 96 our feelings, we distance ourselves from that person. We also
- 97 know it's important for people to keep their promises, because
- 98 that too helps us feel secure in that friendship.
- 99 Knowing these are 3 core emotional needs we all have helps us
- 100 better understand how these apply to relationships and sex.
- 101 Sometimes people think that these needs can be met by having
- 102 sex. But let's look at what happens to our emotions when we
- 103 bring sex into a relationship.

104 The Story of Jackson and Chloe

- 105 Meet Jackson and Chloe. Can I get a volunteer to read how
- 106 Jackson and Chloe Met?
- 107 Jackson was a sophomore and Chloe a freshman. They had known
- 108 each other since they were kids and had been friends for a long
- 109 time. Over the summer, things got more serious, and they started
- 110 dating. At first, they did a lot of simple, fun things together;
- 111 they watched movies, sat on the porch swing at Chloe's house,
- 112 talked on the phone and hung out with friends.

- 113 Let's stop right here and identify the core emotions playing out
- 114 in their relationship.
- 115 Status How do they make one another feel? (important, like
- 116 they matter, respected)
- 117 Connection How are they connecting? (talking on the phone,
- 118 communicating, hanging out)
- 119 Safety How do you think they feel safe? (they trust each
- 120 other, they've been friends for a long time)
- 121 Let's continue our story. Can I get a volunteer?
- 122 One Saturday night, Jackson and Chloe find themselves alone at
- 123 Chloe's house. That night, one thing led to another, and they
- 124 had sex. They didn't mean for it to happen. Now what?
- 125 Let's see what Chloe was thinking. Choose a female volunteer.
- 126 Chloe was really worried and scared. She couldn't help feeling a
- 127 sense of regret. She loved Jackson, but she hadn't planned for
- 128 this and she hadn't really been ready. What if her parents found
- 129 out? What if Jackson told his friends? What would they think
- 130 about her? What if he wants to do it again?
- 131 Chloe cried herself to sleep that night and stayed home from
- 132 school for two days. She told her mother she was feeling sick,

- 133 but the real reason she stayed home was that she was upset that
- 134 she and Jackson had crossed that line.
- 135 Let's see what was going on in Jackson's head. Choose a male
- 136 volunteer.
- 137 Jackson was worried too. He wondered if Chloe even enjoyed
- 138 having sex with him. Did he do it right? Why wasn't she talking
- 139 to him? Maybe she wishes they had never done that. Now she's
- 140 missed two days of school. Could she be pregnant?
- 141 (Pause the story) Let's look for a minute what's going on now
- 142 that Jackson and Chloe have had sex. How has it effected their
- 143 emotions?
- 144 Status How has their status changed? (Allow student response -
- 145 he's worried about his performance, she's worried about what
- 146 others will think about her)
- 147 Connection How is their connection? (Allow student response -
- 148 they're not communicating, they're no longer sure of things)
- 149 Safety What about safety? How has that been affected? (Allow
- 150 student response they no longer feel secure in their
- 151 relationship, they no longer trust one another)
- 152 Okay, back to the story. Choose a volunteer.

- 153 Things between Chloe and Jackson were not the same. They fought
- 154 all the time and communication got worse. Chloe became clingy
- 155 and acted jealous. Jackson became detached and less attentive.
- 156 Chloe felt like all Jackson wanted to do was have sex every time
- 157 they were alone. He thought if they were intimate, they would
- 158 feel close again.
- 159 Choose a different volunteer.
- 160 They had sex a few more times, but they didn't grow any closer.
- 161 Chloe began wondering if Jackson ever loved her in the first
- 162 place and Jackson started spending more time with his friends.
- 163 Every time he was with Chloe, they usually got into a fight and
- 164 he was left feeling bad about himself. Chloe was left
- 165 heartbroken because she had shared something with Jackson that
- 166 she'd never shared with anyone else.
- 167 What do you think happened to Jackson and Chloe?
- 168 Jackson and Chloe broke up.
- 169 Now, how realistic do you think this story is? (Allow student
- 170 responses).
- 171 I know this is just a story, but it's one that happens over and
- 172 over again in relationships. This is how emotions get so messed
- 173 up.
- 174 So when you have sex with someone, it's not just the physical
- 175 consequences you have to deal with, you've got the emotional

- 176 consequences as well. The emotional consequences can be just as
- 177 difficult to deal with as the physical.
- 178 You may be starting to wonder if sex is ever a good thing or
- 179 worth having. Well, let's talk about that.

180 Building Healthy Relationships

- 181 > Pyramid Challenge
- 182 Can I get a volunteer?
- 183 I've got a set of blocks here and I want you to build a pyramid
- 184 that will stand on its own.
- 185 What size did you start with? (Yes, the largest one).
- 186 What would happen if you start with the smallest block? (Allow
- 187 student response)
- 188 Could you still build a pyramid? (No)
- 189 (Take the pyramid apart)
- 190 Is it possible to build the pyramid in any other order? (No)
- 191 So the only way to build a pyramid that will stand on its own is
- 192 to build it from largest to smallest.
- 193 This is the same with relationships. There's an order to
- 194 relationships where you can have the strongest, healthiest

- 195 relationship when built in this order. Let's see what that order
- 196 looks like. (Now that you've taken the pyramid apart, you're
- 197 going to build it one block at a time as you discuss what each
- 198 block represents).
- 199 The first block represents  $\underline{YOU}$ . (Place the first block down)
- 200 Before you can have a healthy relationship, you need to be a
- 201 healthy person. Remember when we talked about your uniqueness.
- 202 You need to know your value and get rid of negative self-images.
- 203 Let me explain it this way: A healthy you is like a foundation
- 204 for a pyramid. You are the first building block in a healthy
- 205 relationship.
- 206 Having a strong foundation also involves making wise decisions.
- 207 Remember, the choices you make today can affect the rest of your
- 208 life.
- 209 The next block represents your FRIENDSHIPS. (Place the second
- 210 block.)
- 211 When you are healthy, you have the ability to develop real and
- 212 healthy friendships. A true friend will want what is best for
- 213 you and will encourage you to make good choices. A strong bond
- 214 can be made, one based on respect, communication, and trust.
- 215 Before you move on to the next level in your relationship, it's
- 216 important to first develop a solid friendship.

- 217 So you've worked on you, learning who you are, finding your
- 218 self-worth, making good decisions. You've built a solid
- 219 foundation. You've developed a good friendship. One based on
- 220 mutual respect and trust. So girls, let's say you've had him in
- 221 the friend zone for a while, but you start to develop some
- 222 feelings for him. Guys, you realize you really like her and
- 223 could see something more than friends.
- 224 Time for the third block of our pyramid, DATING. (Place the
- 225 third block.)
- 226 Dating is a time to explore whether your friendship could be
- 227 something more in the future. Could you spend the rest of your
- 228 life with this person? Dating takes friendship to a level that
- 229 is more intimate. It's a chance to discover each other's dreams
- 230 and goals for the future.
- 231 Dating is about a committed relationship involving only two
- 232 people. With time, dating can lead to something more permanent.
- 233 Let's pause for a minute address what the experts are saying
- 234 about sex and relationships. The experts we rely on having been
- 235 doing thorough research on this subject for more than 30 years.
- 236 And for 30 years they still recommend two options that provide
- 237 you with the best, safest, and most enjoyable way to experience
- 238 sex and relationships.
- For sex they recommend for your safety that you practice
- 240 abstinence from all sexual activity. This helps avoid lots
- of these consequences we have already discussed.

- For relationships they recommend that you join yourself to one other person in a mutually monogamous relationship. This relationship means that you will only have sex with that one other person in a committed relationship for the
- 247 So let me ask you a question. What type of relationship do we 248 know of that is made of only two people, enjoying sex without
- 249 fear, with only that one other person? (Allow students to
- 250 respond MARRIAGE) (Place the fourth block.)

rest of your life.

251 That's right, marriage.

246

- 252 Let's be honest. A lot of people struggle with the idea of
- 253 marriage, and let's face it, not all of them succeed. Maybe you
- 254 haven't seen marriage modeled in a healthy way. But what other
- 255 relationship best illustrates two people devoting themselves to
- 256 each other in life long intimate connection?
- 257 Remember the tape illustration. When two people have built a
- 258 healthy relationship in the proper order, it's a lot like the
- 259 tape that lacks the emotional baggage of broken relationships.
- 260 The bond is strong and the marriage is healthy.
- 261 So now it's time for  $\underline{SEX}$ . (Place the final block)

- 262 And don't mean just any kind of sex. I'm talking about the best
- 263 and safest sex. Sex is awesome. Sex is a wonderful part of a
- 264 marriage.
- 265 But when we get things out of order, just like this pyramid, our
- 266 relationship is no longer stable. It's built on a shaking
- 267 foundation, because with sex out of order comes the physical and
- 268 emotional consequences we've talked about.
- 269 So, I'm not saying you can't have sex. You can have sex whenever
- 270 you want, it's your life and your choice.
- 271 But what I am telling you is if you want to have great sex, the
- 272 best kind of sex, without risk, then save it for marriage.
- 273 So now that you know what the greatest sex can be like and you
- 274 want to avoid all the risks, then it's time to talk about
- 275 boundaries.

276 Boundaries

- 277 Answer me this what is the purpose of having lines on the
- 278 roads or stoplights at intersections? (Allow students to respond
- 279 cars staying in their lanes, less chances of an accident)
- 280 So, rules of the road are designed to keep people safe. But do
- 281 these rules alone eliminate all potential hazards? Of course
- 282 not, because its up to the driver to follow the rules and
- 283 practice good driving habits.

- 284 This is why personal boundaries are so important. They protect
- 285 you from things that threaten your health and well-being.

286

- 287 I can stand up here and give you rules of sex to help keep you
- 288 safe. But it's up to you to stay within the boundaries for your
- 289 own well-being.
- 290 You've got to set your boundaries before you even get into a
- 291 relationship. If sex is not on your to-do list before marriage,
- 292 then set that boundary for yourself now. Don't wait until you're
- 293 in the heat of the moment. It is much harder to stop once you
- 294 have begun making out. You can't stop a car on a dime going 90
- 295 MPH. Sexual progression can get out of hand quick.
- 296 Look at how things can progress rapidly.
- 297 Holding hands
- You may start out by holding hands. It's sweet. It's
- innocent. But it doesn't take long before it moves into...
- 300 Hugging
- Arms around the waist. Arm across the shoulder. Long,
- 302 lingering hugs. This eventually leads to...
- 303 Kissing
- The first kiss is always so-so…okay let's face it, it's
- 305 usually awkward. But they say, practice makes perfect,
- 306 right?! So then a peck on the lips leads to...

- 307 Making Out
- Here's where things can start speeding up fast. How long do you think kissing someone is actually making out? (Allow student response 1-2 min...5 min) And if you're always making out every time you're together, how soon do you think things will progress to...
- 313 Touching
- Once you get here, it definitely doesn't take long before you're having...
- 316 Sex...
- 317 This may not all happen in one night, either. It might progress
- 318 over the course of a few months of dating. Kind of like this
- 319 road. In the beginning, you're cruising along, taking your time,
- 320 enjoying the slow ride around twists and curves, but you let
- 321 down your guard in one small area, cross a boundary you didn't
- 322 want to, and before you know it, you're flying down the hill
- 323 headed for a collusion before you can even stop.
- 324 So let me ask you. Where do you think it would be easier to put
- 325 on the brakes? Where do you think you could stop and not go any
- 326 further? (Allow student responses)
- 327 The further down this road you go, the harder it will be to
- 328 stop.

- 329 That's why you have got to make up your mind now and decide
- 330 where you're going to put your stop sign.
- 331 Let's looks at a few guidelines when it comes to boundaries.
- 332 The first thing you've got to do is...
- 333 ≻ SET IT
- 334 Here are some simple boundaries to help you set your own healthy
- 335 limits:
- 336 Don't Be Alone
- o No solo dates, stay in groups and in public places
- 338 Stay Sober
- o Avoid alcohol and drugs, that cloud your judgment and
- lower your resistance
- 341 No Sexting
- o Be careful what you post on social media or text. No
- 343 seductive images or words.
- 344 ◆ Avoid Porn
- o Pornography wrecks your thought life and distorts your
- 346 view of sex.
- 347 ◆ Set Goals
- o Set high goals for your future and stick to them.
- Don't let dating mess up your plans for your future
- 350 ◆ Involve Your Parents
- o It may seem uncomfortable, but try and discuss things
- with your parents. They may be a good source of wisdom
- and assistance.

354 Next, you've got to...

355 ➤ SAY IT

- Once you have set up your personal health boundaries, it is very 356 357 important that you say it. Be vocal about it. Your true friends will respect those boundaries. A boyfriend or girlfriend that 358 359 truly cares about you will honor those boundaries. It is okay to 360 start a dating relationship by saying, "Just so you know, my 361 goal is to save sex for marriage." If they respect that, they 362 will be cool with it and help you achieve that goal. If they don't respect it and move on, then good job - you just saved 363 364 yourself a bunch of unnecessary drama and heartache.
- 365 Here are a few easy ways to verbally say it:
- If staying abstinent is your personal goal, then boldly 367 state that early in a dating relationship.
- Establish "NO" as the norm before any physical intimacy begins
- Say "NO" if things progress further than you want. Use your words to make it absolutely clear. "NO" means "NO".
- Have conversations that don't revolve around sexual stuff
- 373 Lastly, you've got to...

374 ➤ SHOW IT

- 375 Show others that a healthy lifestyle is important to you. If you 376 want healthy relationships, if you want to have the best and 377 safest sex in marriage, then great! You've got to show it.
- Show it through your actions

384

385

386

387

388

389

390

391

392

393

- o Be clear about your boundaries and don't be afraid to stand by your convictions. Know what you stand for and don't compromise your standards.
- Show it by not sending mixed signals.
  - Let me ask you, is it possible for your mouth to say no and your body to say yes. Absolutely! Be careful how you dress or how you flirt. You could be sending mixed messages.
    - Show it by avoiding places where trouble may occur
      - You may encounter friends that choose to compromise themselves by going places that involve alcohol, drugs, sexual activity, etc. Be bold enough to not go. Remember, if they're true friends, they will respect your decision. If they don't, maybe you need some new friends.
- 394 So, remember, when it comes to boundaries, you want to set it, 395 say it and show it!
- There may be someone in here who's thinking, what's the point, it's too late for me. I've already had sex.

It's not too late

- 399 You all need to know that it is never too late to begin making
- 400 good decisions. If you have already been sexually active and
- 401 perhaps you are wishing you hadn't done it, you can stop now.
- 402 What can you do if you've already had sex?
- Get tested for STDs. This will give you a piece of mind in 404 your future relationships
- Be brave enough to break off a relationship that revolves around sex.
- Begin speaking with a trusted person, maybe even a trusted adult, about how to find emotional healing.
- Next, you can still set up boundaries for yourself and enforce them.
- 411 This is the power you hold. It's never too late to start
- 412 pursuing your best health, even if you have made a mistake in
- 413 the past. Each of you is priceless, unique, valuable, and worth
- 414 waiting for. The best sexual freedom means making the mature
- 415 decision to save sex for a life-long marriage relationship. It's
- 416 safe from risks, it's done in love, and it's the best sex you'll
- 417 have.
- 418 We will be giving each of you a commitment card that states,
- 419 "Starting today, I commit myself to wait until marriage for
- 420 sex."

421 This is something we offer to assist you in making this

422 commitment and sticking to it. It is strictly optional and if 423 you do not want this card, just leave it on your desk. We will

424 collect them after class. If you do make this commitment, have a

425 trusted friend join you and help each other stick to this goal.

426 By the way, this would be a much better gift to give your spouse

427 on your wedding night than Herpes. Just saying.

428 Closing

429 Before we wrap up, I need your help with a quick post survey. If

430 you will get out your computers, go to the link and answer a few

431 questions about what you have learned these past few days. I'll 432 give you a couple of minutes to complete.

433 Lastly, we want you all to know that WCMC offers free pregnancy

434 testing, free STD testing, and confidential sex and relationship

435 consultations. Everything is free and confidential. Office hours

436 are Mon - Thurs., 9 am - 4 pm.
